The Fellowship of Postgraduate Medicine was founded by a group of London consultants after the First World War to assist postgraduates, particularly those coming to London from the Commonwealth, to pursue their studies. The Fellowship first published the Postgraduate Medical Journal to give information about lectures, conferences and courses and to provide a monthly review of all branches of medicine.

Postgraduate Medical Journal publishes original papers on subjects of current clinical importance and welcomes review articles with extensive, up-to-date bibliographies as guides to further reading. Several symposia are published each year, each devoted to a single subject and written by specialists in different disciplines. Most issues include authoritative Current Surveys of clinical problems, and well documented Reports of cases of particular interest, and Book Reviews.

A ‘Notice to Contributors’ is published on the inside back cover of this issue. The Editor reserves the right to make changes which may clarify or condense papers where this is considered desirable. © The contents of this Journal are copyright and, subject to the provisions of Section 7 of the Copyright Act, 1956, they may not be copied, adapted or reproduced without permission. Requests for permission to reproduce material elsewhere, either in whole or in part, should be addressed to The Editor. This Journal is covered by Current Contents and Biological Abstracts.

Arrangement. Papers should be divided into: (a) Summary; (b) Introduction; (c) Materials and methods; (d) Results; (e) Discussion; (f) Acknowledgments; (g) References.

References in the text. These should be made by giving the author's surname, with the year of publication in parentheses. When reference is made to a work by three authors all names should be given when cited for the first time, and thereafter only the first name, adding et al., e.g. Smith et al. (1958). The 'et al.' form should always be used for works by four or more authors. If several papers by the same author and from the same year are cited, a, b, c, etc., should be put after the year of publication, e.g. Smith et al. (1958a).

All references should be brought together at the end of the paper in alphabetical order giving (a) name(s) of the author(s); (b) year of publication in parentheses; (c) title of paper in its original form; (d) title of journal in full, underlined; (e) volume number, underlined; number of first page of article. References to books and monographs should include (a) name(s) and initials of all author(s) or editor(s); year of publication in parentheses, (b) title, underlined; (c) edition; (d) page referred to; (e) publisher; (f) place. Authors should ensure that the listed references correspond exactly to those in the text. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of their references.

Standard usage. The Concise Oxford English Dictionary is used as a reference for all spelling and hyphenation. Verbs which contain the suffix ize (ise) and their derivatives should be spelt with the z. Statistics and measurements should always be given in figures, i.e. 10 min, 20 hr, 5 ml., except where the number begins the sentence. SI units should be used wherever possible. Papers should be written in the third person.

Figures. In the text Arabic numbers, e.g. Fig. 3, should be used. They should be marked on the backs with the name(s) of the author(s) and the title of the paper. The top of each figure should be indicated with an arrow on the reverse side. Each figure must bear a reference corresponding to a similar number in the text. Photographs and photomicrographs should be unmounted glossy prints and should not be retouched. Line diagrams should be on separate sheets; they should be drawn with black Indian ink on white paper and should be twice the size of the final reproduction. The originals of line diagrams, prepared as described above, may be submitted in photographs of similar size. The legends of all figures should be typed together on a single sheet of paper headed 'Captions to Figures'.

Tables. These should be on separate sheets. The main heading should be in capitals with an arabic number, e.g. TABLE 2. Each table must have a caption.

Page proofs will be submitted to the senior author for minor corrections and should be returned to the Editor within 3 days. Major alterations to the text cannot be accepted.

Offprints. These may be purchased if ordered on the form which will be sent to the senior author with the proofs.
