'LOREXANE' CONCENTRATE

The New Parasiticide for Pediculosis Capitis

'Lorexane' Concentrate contains in solution 1% of the pure gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride (the active constituent of 'Gammexane' products), a powerful parasiticide.

Diluted with four parts water, it produces a fine suspension which is highly effective against pediculosis capitis, and does not irritate or harm the scalp.

A single application is sufficient to eradicate head-lice. One teaspoonful of 'Lorexane' to a tablespoonful of water is usually enough to cover the scalp.

'Lorexane' Concentrate is odourless, clean, pleasant to handle, and easily prepared for use.

Issued in containers of 50 c.c. and 500 c.c.

'FISSAN' ANAL OINTMENT AND SUPPOSITORIES

for the local treatment of Haemorrhoids and Anal Fissures

Hæmorrhoidal conditions require the following qualities in any preparation applied:—

1. Stemming of hæmorrhage.
2. Relief of pain and irritation.
3. Reduction of mucous exudation.

In mild cases 'Fissan' treatment will clear up the trouble, and in severe cases may be used to give relief and create suitable conditions for the rectifying of the varicose condition.

'Fissan' Anal Ointment and

Suppositories contain menthol to relieve pain and irritation, witch hazel and zinc oxide to reduce bleeding and exudation, kaolin to absorb exudation, boric acid and bismuth salts to exert an antiseptic action, and colloidal milk protein as an emollient.

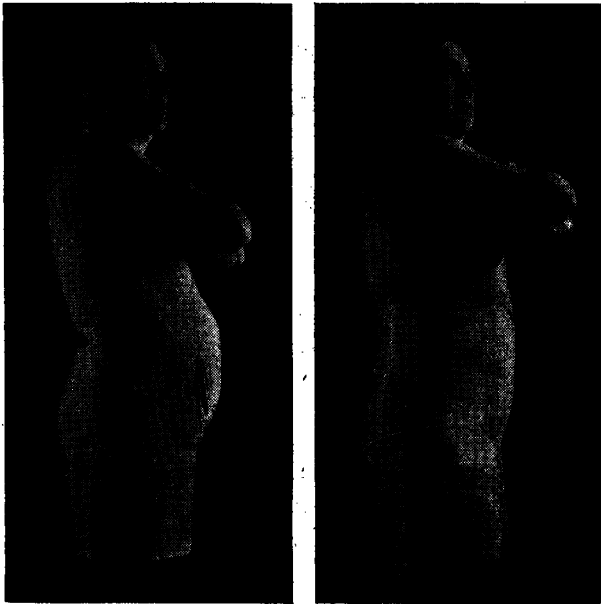

All the constituents are in a fine state of sub-division, thus assuring that the maximum surface area is available. The medicament is spread in an even film over the affected area upon application.

... in the Management of Psychosomatic Disturbances

Literature on the subject of an anatomic-mechanistic basis for chronic ills related to visceral and skeletal functions is considerable.*

In the management of psychosomatic disturbances, especially where improvement of body mechanics is one of the therapeutic aims, we suggest Spencer Individual Designing as worthy of the doctor's investigation.

For more than 20 years Spencer has individually designed supports for conditions such as visceroptosis and nephroptosis with symptoms; hernia (inoperable); post-operative; heart conditions where abdominal support is helpful; antepartum-postpartum; back injuries and diseases; breast conditions.
