EDITORIAL.

WE would like to bring to the notice of our readers a new scheme devised by The Fellowship of Medicine in order to widen its interests. The scheme, shortly, is to enrol medical societies throughout the country as associate members. Each society pays a fee of one guinea, and all members of these societies are entitled to join the Fellowship of Medicine at a reduced subscription. The Secretary of the Associate Society receives not only the POST-GRADUATE JOURNAL, but also all notices of courses, lectures, and so forth.

Members of the medical societies who have availed themselves of becoming individual members of The Fellowship of Medicine are entitled to the Journal and also to a 10 per cent. reduction of all fees for any courses that may be arranged through the Fellowship. Moreover, the Hon. Secretaries of The Fellowship of Medicine are only too anxious to render every assistance in their power and hope that they may be the means of meeting the demands for post-graduate teaching, which is increasing annually.

SEVERAL Special Courses on a variety of subjects are to be held during the month of February.

From February 4 to March 1 the Staff of the Bethlem Royal Hospital will hold a series of Lecture-Demonstrations on Tuesdays and Saturdays at 11 a.m. Fee £1 1s.

From February 10 to February 22 the Chelsea Hospital for Women will provide a Course in Gynæcology. Instruction is given mornings and/or afternoons, and the fee is £5 5s.

A series of eight Clinical Demonstrations, extending over four weeks from February 11 to March 6, will be given at the Hospital for Tropical Diseases on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2 p.m. Fee £2 2s.

For those interested in dermatology there is a month's course at St. John's Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, beginning February 17 and continuing until March 15. Instruction will be given daily, including Saturdays, in the Out-Patient Department, throughout the month, and there will also be a series of lectures given on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5 p.m. The fee for the course is £1 1s. Practical pathological demonstrations can be arranged if desired. Fee £4 4s.

An afternoon course, from Monday, February 24, to Friday, March 7, will be given at the Royal Eye Hospital, Southwark. Demonstrations on the Diagnosis and Treatment of Diseases of the Eye will be undertaken by Members of the Staff at 3 p.m. This Hospital is particularly fortunate in the number of clinical cases it receives, thus affording the Staff ample opportunity for demonstration purposes. Fee £1 1s.

Dr. Bernard Myers, the Director of the Children's Clinic, in association with several other hospitals, provides a comprehensive Special Course for those post-graduates interested in the study of children's diseases from all aspects. In addition to the clinics held at the hospitals, visits to other centres are also arranged. The dates of the course are February 24 to March 8, and the fee is £2 2s.

We have been asked to remind medical practitioners that, as well as the Special Courses, the Fellowship of Medicine provides a General Course which consists of the clinical practice of its associated hospitals. For those desiring concentrated work we would recommend the comprehensive ticket—one week upwards to one year—fees: £2 2s. to £21. The needs of those only able to do part-time work are not overlooked, as books of vouchers, price £2 for 12 or £4 for 26, are provided.

In continuance of the series of lectures arranged by the Fellowship of Medicine to be delivered on Tuesdays at 4 o'clock in the Lecture Room of the Medical Society of London, 11, Chandos Street, Cavendish Square, W.1, the following will lecture during February:—

February 4.—Professor Hugh MacLean, "The Present Position of Gastric Physiology and its Bearing on Gastric Diseases."
