POST-GRADUATE NEWS.

OWING to the Christmas vacation, it is not possible to hold many special courses in December. From December 1 to December 14 a course in Diseases of Infants with special reference to nutritional disorders and dietetics will be held at the Infants Hospital under the direction of Dr. Eric Pritchard. This course will occupy the afternoons only, and is of interest especially to those engaged in welfare centres. Some visits to other centres will be made, such as to the St. Margaret's Hospital, to the United Dairies Pasteurizing Plant at Willesden, &c. The fee for the course is £3 3.

From December 1 to December 12 an afternoon course in Dermatology will be given at the Hospital for Diseases of the Skin, Blackfriars. Instruction will take place in the Out-Patient Department every afternoon from 2.30 p.m., and special demonstrations of interesting cases will be given on December 2 and December 9. Fee, £1 1s.

We would remind readers that the first special course to be held in 1931 will be one in Cardiology, and as this course is extremely popular and the numbers strictly limited to twenty, early enrolment is desirable. The dates of the course are January 12 to January 24.

For the benefit of our new subscribers we would point out that the 1931 List of Special Courses is available.
