

JOURNALS FROM MACMILLAN

 PHARMACEUTICAL MEDICINE

Quarterly

Editor: R. N. Smith.

Assistant Editor: P. J. Keen

... "a quarterly journal, which includes papers on the validation of new and established methods of testing drugs in man written by investigators both inside and outside the pharmaceutical industry. It also provides a forum for the exchange of ideas about issues affecting drug development. These new developments merit support from all involved in the management, sale and use of drugs."

THE DRUGS HANDBOOK 1985-6

Paul Turner, Professor of Clinical Pharmacology,
St Bartholomew's Hospital, London

Glyn Volans, Director of the Poisons Unit,
Guy's Hospital, London

"A godsend to those who require succinct, rapid information on drugs."

British Book News

Written by two leading authorities on the use of drugs, this well established book, now in its fifth edition, describes the mechanism of action, the therapeutic indications and the main side effects of all available drugs. Updated annually, it is concise and accurate.

Drugs are listed alphabetically under their trade or brand names and again under their medical or approved name. Drugs available on prescription in the UK are included plus the more significant non-prescription drugs. The information is clear, well presented and easily understood — it will be invaluable to all those who need quick access to basic information on drugs.

MACMILLAN PRESS FOR TITLES ON PREGNANCY AND PAEDIATRICS

PREGNANT WOMEN AT WORK

Edited by Geoffrey Chamberlain

The problems facing working pregnant women are extremely diverse. This book draws together contributions from experts in a variety of disciplines not usually found in one volume.

It consists of a series of authoritative accounts of the various effects of working while pregnant — both in the workplace and in the home, and highlights the varying work habits of pregnant women in different countries.

The technical hazards of radiation and chemicals are considered, but wider medico-sociological aspects are given coverage along with legal, trade union, and management viewpoints.

PREGNANCY CARE IN THE 1980s

Edited by Luke Zander and Geoffrey Chamberlain

Current practice and future trends in pregnancy are controversial subjects. This book considers the different aspects of pregnancy and its management from a wide range of different views. It is very much a critical appraisal of current practices, expected objectives and future expectations. Some of the questions asked include: what should be the content of antenatal care? How do bonding processes relate to obstetric practices? How should preparation for parenthood be directed? and what changes are expected in the coming decade? Bringing together, as it does, a wide variety of different professional views, this book will be valuable to all those involved in this vital aspect of medical care.

JOURNALS FROM MACMILLAN

In 1985 Macmillan are launching new journals for new and fast developing areas of science as well as strongly supporting their established titles. The publication of Anti-Cancer Drug Design and Bone Marrow Transplantation respond to new developments in scientific research, and will provide a valuable forum for exchange of ideas.

At the same time our already established journals continue to chart and report new developments. Postgraduate Medical Journal has recently celebrated its 60th anniversary and from January 1986 we are taking over publication of the Journal of the Society of Community Medicine, Public Health.

So if you are out of touch with the journals we publish – or would like to see copies of our new ones as they are published – we would be pleased to send you sample copies. Simply tick in the boxes the journals you require, add your name and address in the space provided and return to me at the address shown. Please note that for readers in the United Kingdom, no stamp is required – simply mark the envelope FREEPOST.

LIFE SCIENCES

The International Medium for Rapid Publication of Communications in the Life
Sciences

Executive Editor: R BRESSLER,
*Department of Pharmacology, College of Medicine, University of Arizona, Tucson,
AZ 85724, USA*

Life Sciences publishes papers concerning the pharmacological aspects of biochemistry, chemistry, endocrinology, immunology, medicinal chemistry, microbiology, molecular biology, pathology, physiology and toxicology. Reviewed on the basis of their scientific merit and the need for rapid publication, these papers cover new information; minireviews on selected facets of a scientific field undergoing rapid change; brief conceptual papers based on original and/or literature data; relevant clinical discoveries; collections of selected papers on current concepts in a particular field; and occasional symposia papers.
