Journal of Human

HYPERTENSION

This new journal is exclusively concerned with the clinical aspects of human hypertension. Our understanding of the cause, as well as the detection, investigation and treatment of this disease remains inadequate. The journal aims to perform the dual role of increasing knowledge in the field of high blood pressure as well as improving the standard of care of patients. Practising clinicians, general practitioners, research workers, and nurses, as well as epidemiologists should find it of interest.

METASTATIC SPREAD OF CANCER

G. V. Sherbet

A new approach to the analysis of the mechanisms of metastasis which compares the glioma, an intracranial tumour which ordinarily does not metastasise, to other metastasising tumour models. This produces a coherent picture of the operation of oncogenes and growth factors in the initiation, development and progression of neoplasms.

LIVING WITH AIDS AND HIV

BY DAVID MILLER

A practical manual for people with AIDS, for those showing HIV antibody positive, for their carers and counsellors.

Living with AIDS and HIV gives an outline of the medical aspects of the condition and then deals with practical and psychological adjustments. Who should be told and how; how to cope with anxiety and depression; recommended adjustments in sexual activity; advice on preventing the spread of infection.

Other advice given includes the importance of maintaining a healthy lifestyle through diet and exercise, coping with changes in relationships and a discussion of available treatments. The emphasis is on accurate, practical information. The book is invaluable in an area where there is an urgent need.

THE AUTHOR:

David Miller is uniquely well qualified to write this book. A recognised authority on the psycho-social management of HIV infection and all its related disorders he has worked in this field for the past four years at St Mary's Hospital, London and at the Middlesex Hospital Medical School. As well as touring the UK to train doctors and health staff in patient management he is co-founder of and formerly chief counselling adviser to the National AIDS Counselling Training Unit. David Miller also runs the country's only long term support group for people with AIDS.
