

Postgraduate Medical Journal

The Journal of Continuing Professional Development

AIMS AND SCOPE

The Postgraduate Medical Journal is published on behalf of the Fellowship of Postgraduate Medicine by the BMJ Publishing Group and is dedicated to advancing the understanding of postgraduate medical education and training. The aims of the Postgraduate Medical Journal are threefold. Firstly, to help doctors in training to acquire the necessary skills to enable them to deliver the highest possible standards of patient care. Secondly, to help the trainers to develop suitable training programmes for their trainees. Finally, once that training is completed, to allow these doctors to maintain high standards by a process of continuing medical education.

The Fellowship of Postgraduate Medicine

The Fellowship of Postgraduate Medicine was founded after the First World War and was a pioneer in the UK in the development of programmes of postgraduate study in all branches of medicine. It is, and always has been, independent of university, health service, and government. The Fellowship does not give personal grants for educational purposes or research. It achieves its objectives through publishing the Postgraduate Medical Journal and sponsoring national postgraduate education programmes. Further details can be obtained from the Executive Secretary, Fellowship of Postgraduate Medicine, 12 Chandos Street, London W1G 9DR, UK. The Fellowship is a registered charity.

While every effort is made by the publishers and editorial board to see that no inaccurate or misleading data, opinions or statements appear in this Journal, they wish to make it clear that the data and opinions appearing in the articles and advertisements herein are the responsibility of the contributor or advertiser concerned. Accordingly, the publishers and the Fellowship, the editorial committee and their respective employees, officers and agents, accept no liability whatsoever for the consequences of any such inaccurate or misleading data, opinion or statement. While every effort is made to ensure that drug doses and other quantities are presented accurately, readers are advised that new methods and techniques involving drug usage, described with in this Journal, should only be followed in conjunction with the drug manufacturer's own published literature.
